

SEE the pall-supporting beasties
All in undertaking how:
See the train of false-wearers
Acting every made of woe!

Silent crowds the spot surrounding,
Call'd the grand receiver's dome;
Dismal telling terrorsounding,
Mellow-morals! follow home!

Lit lob, lit! ye slate declaimers,
On whose words the many dwelt:
Place-lasting, patient tamer,
Hark! oh, hark! 'tis grandeur's knell.

Heralds loud proclaim the honors
Of this once-proud past:
Tell his titles! count his masters!
Lord of only this!—at last.

View the tom's with sculpture splendid,
View the foil with briars boun'd;
Here—the face of finery's ended!
All are equal under ground.

Echinos here their envies vanish'd:
Beauties here can't plead their forms:
Honor—precedences are banish'd:
Oaths, all, to odious worms.

Wife folks, weak ones—poor and wealthy,
Tenants, unremitting, graves;
Haughty, humble, sick and healthy—
British sons and Afra's slaves.

Gloom no more the brow with sorrow;
Now the moment comes what may:
If we're all to die to-morrow,
Let us live, my lads, to day.

We'll not lavish life's expenses,
Nor be niggards while we pay;
Let us please, not pull, our fences:
This is reason's holiday.

Here, to dunces bid defiance—
Afterslugs disappear!—
Here's my call—the grand alliance—
Friendship, freedom, wit and love.

Address from the Hebrew Congregation in the State of Rhode-Island, to the President of the U.
NITED STATES OF AMERICA.

SIR,

PERMIT the children of the flock of Abraham to approach you, with the most cordial affection and esteem, for your personal merits; and to join with our fellow-citizens in welcoming you to Newport.

With pleasure we reflect on those days—those days of difficulty and danger, when the God of Israel, who delivered David from the peril of the sword, shielded your head in the day of battle—And we rejoice to think, that the same spirit, who reigned to the bottom of the greatly beloved Daniel enabling him to prefigure over the provinces of the Babylonian Empire, tells, and ever will tell, upon you, enabling you to discharge the arduous duties of Chief Magistrate in these States.

Deprived as we heretofore have been of the invaluable rights of free citizens, we now, with a deep sense of gratitude to the Almighty Disposer of all events, behold a government created by the MAJESTY OF THE PEOPLE—a government which to bigotry gives no sanction—to persecution no assistance; but generally affording to ALL liberty of conscience, and immunities of citizenship—demeaning every one, of whatever nation, tongue or language, equal parts of the great governmental machine. This is ample and extensive federal Union, where basis is philanthropy, mutual confidence and public virtue, we cannot but acknowledge to be the work of the great God, who rules in the armies of Heaven and among the inhabitants of the earth, doing whatsoever seemeth him good.

For all the blessings of civil and religious liberty, which we enjoy under an equal and benign administration, we desire to feed up our thanks to the Ancient of Days, the great Preserver of men—beleefing him, that the angel who conducted our forefathers through the wilderness into the promised land, may graciously conduct you through all the difficulties and dangers of this mortal life; and when, like Joshua, full of days and full of honour, you are gathered unto your fathers, may be admitted into the Heavenly Paradise, to partake of the water of life, and the tree of immortality.

Done and signed, by order of the Hebrew Congregation in Newport, Rhode-Island, August 17, 1790.

MOSES SEIXAS, Warden.

THE ANSWER.
To the Hebrew Congregation in Newport Rhode-Island.

Gentlemen, I receive with much satisfaction your address, replete with expressions of affection and esteem, I rejoice in the opportunity of assuring you, that I shall always retain a great remembrance of the cordial welcome experienced in my visit to New-England, from all classes of citizens.

The reflection on the days of difficulty and danger which are past, is rendered the more sweet, from a consciousness that they are succeeded by days of uncommon prosperity and security. If we have wisdom to make the best use of the advantages with which we are now favoured, we cannot fail, under the just administration of a good government, to become a great and happy people.

The citizens of the United States of America have a right to applaud themselves, for having given to mankind examples of an enlarged and liberal policy—a policy worthy of imitation. All possess alike liberty of conscience, and immunities of citizenship. It is now no more that toleration is spoken of, as if it was the indulgence of one class of people, that another enjoyed the exercise of the inherent natural rights: For happily the government of the United States, which gives to bigotry no sanction—to persecution no assistance, requires only that they who live under its protection, should deem themselves as good citizens, by giving it on all occasions their effectual support.

It would be inconsistent with the frankness of my character not to avow, that I am pleased with your favourable opinion of my administration, and fervent wishes for my felicity. May the children of the flock of Abraham, who dwell in this land, continue to merit and enjoy the good will of the other inhabitants; while every one shall sit in safety under own vine & fig-tree, and there shall be none to make him afraid. May the Father of all mercies scatter light and not darkness in our paths, and make us all in our several vocations useful here, & in his own due time and way everlasting happiness.

Gentlemen, I receive with much satisfaction your address, replete with expressions of affection and esteem, I rejoice in the opportunity of assuring you, that I shall always retain a great remembrance of the cordial welcome experienced in my visit to New-England, from all classes of citizens.

The reflection on the days of difficulty and danger which are past, is rendered the more sweet, from a consciousness that they are succeeded by days of uncommon prosperity and security. If we have wisdom to make the best use of the advantages with which we are now favoured, we cannot fail, under the just administration of a good government, to become a great and happy people.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, Sept. 20, 1790.
IT is hereby made known that the following arrangement has been adopted towards carrying into execution the Act, making provision for the debt of the United States, viz.

Loan Office Certificates, and those issued by the Commissioners for the adjustment of accounts in the several States, will be receivable only at the Treasury and by the respective Commissioners of Loans within the States in which they were respectively issued. The Certificates issued by the Register of the Treasury, by the Pay Master General and Commissioner of Army Accounts, by the Commissioners for the adjustment of the Accounts of the Quartermaster, Commissary of Hospital, Clothing, and Marine Departments, Indians of Interest, and Bills of old Obligation, will be received indiscriminately at the Treasury and by the Commissioners of all the States. The situation of the Checks has dictated this arrangement for the greater security of the public against impositions by forged or counterfeit paper, and the details which have been adopted from the same consideration for the execution of the business are such, that it will give facility and dispatch, if applications from the Holders of Certificates of the Register of the Treasury and of the Pay Master General, and Commissioner of Army Accounts, and of the Commissioners for the adjustment of Accounts in the respective States, are made in like manner to the Commissioners of Loans within the States in which they were issued. Transfers can afterwards be made to any office that the Proprietors of these Certificates may desire.

It would be inconsistent with the frankness of my character not to avow, that I am pleased with your favourable opinion of my administration, and fervent wishes for my felicity. May the children of the flock of Abraham, who dwell in this land, continue to merit and enjoy the good will of the other inhabitants; while every one shall sit in safety under own vine & fig-tree, and there shall be none to make him afraid. May the Father of all mercies scatter light and not darkness in our paths, and make us all in our several vocations useful here, & in his own due time and way everlasting happiness.
