The General in chief of the French army.

DUMOURIER,

Baths of Sr. Amand, April 2, 1793.

The Marefehal Prince of Saxe Cobourg, General in chief of the armies of his Majeffy the Emperor and of the Empire.

The General in chief Dumonrier has communicated to me his declaration to the French nation. In it I find the fentiments and principles of a virtuous man find the fentiments and principles of a virtuosis man, who truly loves his country, and who wifnes to put an end to the calamites and anarchy by which it is defolated, by procuring for it the happiness of a confliming and a wife and permanent government. I know this afforto be the unanimous with of all the forcetigns whom form facilious perfons have armed againth? Hance, and particularly that of his Majedy the Emperor, and his Profice Majefly.

Profoundly penetrated with these great truths and defining nothing but the prespectly and glory of the country torn by so many convulsions & missfortunes:

Ideclare by the present proclamation, that I will Support by all the force in my power the generous and beneficient intentions of the general in chief, Dumourier, and his brave army.

I declare besides, that having lately fought us on fereral eccasions as a gallaur, intropid and generous enemy, I willjoin a part of my troops, should gen. Dumouries defire it, or even all my army to that of France, to codefire it, or even all my army to that of France, to co-operate as friends and companions in arms worthy of reciprocal efteem, to as to refire to France her con-ditiutional king, the conditiution file has chofen, and as ancedary confequence, the means of perfecting it, if the nation hould find it imperfect; thus to reflore, to France, as well as to theirth of Europe, peace, confi-dence, tranquility and happinels. I therefore declare on my word of honor, char I will not enter the territo-

THE PRINCE DE COBOURG.

The Marefehal Prince of Saxe Cobourg, General and Commander in Chief of the armies of his Majefly the Emperer, and of the Empire, to the Freuch. The Declaration which I made from my head quarters at Mons, dated the 5th of April 1793, is a public testimony of my personal sentiments to restore as possible, peace and tranquility to Europe. manifested in a finerre and open manner, my particular desire that the French nation might have a folid and durable government, founded on the unhaken bass of justice and humanity, which might enforce power to En-rope and happinels to France.

Now that the refule of this declaration is fo opposit Now that the refult of this declaration is fo oppofite to the effects it ought to have produced and which proves but too plainly that the featiments which have dictated it have been milanderflood, it only remains for me to revoke it entirely, and to declare formally, that the flate of war which fabfilis between the court of Vienas and the combined powers and France, is from this moment unbappily renewed.

If and myself therefore forced, by the predomination of the court of the cour ictorious armies are capable.

The ceffation of the armiftice is the first flep that the anformatic combination of events has forced me to make. There will therefore only fathfit, of my former declaration, the inviolable engagement which I a gain renew with pleafure, that the most exact disciplin will be observed and maintained by my army upon the Freich territory, and that every breach thereof will be punished with the utmost rigor. The sincerity and loyalty which at all times have been he principle of my actions, oblige me to 'give to this which it is informatible to leave no doubt of the con-

equences that may refult from it,
