MR. Engroup,

ME cance of a man's own wifdom is better than a pound of other people's."—That is an exiom universally peoples admitted, from the Prince down to the Pletheian. In the prefent political ferment every mechanic is a Prime Minister, and cabler's fall is a Cabinet Council; Honest Crifpin will swear, that the French are a fet of fad fals; Suip, the Taylor, wouldn't give a burnin far the Convention; while Anvil, the Disconstitutions the libe ded if the Dake of York won't real those what do ye cawle em fellows those foucy class this caute sign!" " Saucy faucy clean—this cauterign!" "Saucy Cleate," rears an Excifense, you fool, you mean fant gullats, which in true Euglish fignifics fellows with monfirous fundings

A group of these acente expounders had got together a few evenings ago, over a newspaper and a tankard, when one with newspaper and a tankard, when one with more leadable longs than the reft, we con-fee oracle; and smong other curious para-graphs, he flushfiel dyon the following: "" Strong northerly winds have of late prevailed, and Boress with his elemental feourge, has, we fear, been at least par tially injurous to our shipping."—"Barnet exclaimed one of the company, " Whole exclaimed one of the company, "Whole he ?"—Here the render, taking off his fupplemental eyes, and putting on a finite of fuperior fagacity, eries, "Here's a preny

ho Falconbridge tells us they are flegged with a cat to make them jump for exercife. This the flat e captains choole to term dancing: and Mr. Claston informs us, the parts to which the fluckles are faftened, parts to wince the inaccies are fattened, are often fo exconsisted as to produce many dreadful complaints. Dr. Trotter tells us, he has feen them when confined below, ore and comparates. Dr. I rotter fells us, the has feen them when confined below, drawing their breath like animals expiring in the exhanded receiver of an air purpy, and heard them cry out, We are drift, we care drift like has feen many of them in a drying flate from fuffocation, and has recovered fone by inflantly bringing them on deck; but others have been precurerably loft. Mr. Felkenbridge has known them to go down apparently in health, and found them dead next morning. He opened one of them to know with cettainty the cause of his devilt and from the apparented of the p-r, he was faithfied that it was from fuffication. He fays, that once, on going down, he found twenty had faitated, or were fainting the got them instruments of the properties of the drift of the flaves, whether well or ill, always lie on the bare planks, the motion of the this rubs the fielh from the prominent parts of dreadfully difgefling; or Mr. Ellifon's That the fleam from their confined bodies below, come up through the gatings like a formace. Mr. Morley has feen them wallowing in their blood and excrement; and Frazer, a fave captain, acknowledged to the Honfe, that it was a diffouted point athe Honfe, that it was adifputed point among their erforchalle fraircenity, whether it was moft injurious to the health of the flaves thou so be left wallowing in their filth, or to render it damp between decks by washing the fifth way.

In fuch a fination, and in the turrid zore, infactable moft be the thirft. But, as water it builty flowage, the holds cannot contain a modernter waster it.

parties went our generally in an evening: Capt. Knox acknowledges he was feven and he few 25 Direc, who were taken by month 1 and Capt. Fraier was one mether of flaves. Hence, though the the pillagers, 23 of about were women and months, on the coast, procuring their are convicted floaring before watered at the
