" Citizen Prefident, eight French maringer arrived vetterday at the port of Sables d'Oloane; they were in prifon at Kin fale, in Ireland, when the hatred of flavery made them bresk their chains and carry off a final floor which brought them to this place. Nothing can equal the dangers and fufferings they endured; for ten days they were at fea, they lived on potatoes, boiled in fea water, not having even fresh water to drink : they underwent a tempelt, and It was a kind of prodigy that they were a-ble to reach the French coast. But what are men capable of undertaking and bearing who are animated by the lave of free-dum? They are now in their country, on the feil of liberty, and they are happy.

"The Irish, according to their deposi-tions, are sick of tyranny. They sign af-ter liberry and the arrival of the French; they will neither formith failurs or foldiers to George; and they even themselves aid-ed the Firmen to break their chains.— Health and Frateralty.

PARIS, 158- 15. At length men begin to tak ferically of earrying into practice our Republican Confinition, of fixing its fundamental laws, and of sunitilating the infamous Revolutionary Government. Now that good men can speak the feati-mis of their bears without the fear of passing for acidiocrais and royalitis, they begin to raife their wrice in the easte of reason and justice, of liberty and equality, or our democratic confliction, the only fecurity for those ineffinable bleffings. Without it, it is impossible but that we must from again tall their underthe def-patific of one, or the take. Bill coverof one, or the yoke, fill more indy anarchy.

PEACE.
It is a point on which the people of this country sught to be infirmed, that the peo-ple of France are not lels earnest for the reflacation of Peace than the people of this country. By anthenric information, which we have received from the continear-by the concurrent reflimony of every man who has lately returned from France, we can affect, that the universal end as for a speedy and honourable Peace; and the namphless sublished in Paris, recommencing this masters, are even more numerous, and, it must be more foreible than that which are published in London-The Darch first continues fiving on board the men of war and in the dock yards, where every thing remains in the Trenct. Norhing, it is probable, will be done in the naval department, until the French have tried whether or not the Datch will eliablish such a form of government as will fave the French the trouble of iffuing orders in their own name upon that lead,

There has been an entry of Artificers of all denominations in the Dock-yard. The wages of flipwrights in the private yards are rifen to an enormous height; one flip-wright paid 10/, and 6% to feveral workmen laft funday for the day's work.

rendered those cours an empty name.

The evils now existing under the present arrangement are not of a single day; they have been felt for years, and are of a ferious nature. The General Court, for these eight years past, have had the sub-ject under consideration, at almost every session, and different plans have been propoled. One Committee reported that the falaries of the Judges of the Supreme Judicial Court were not large enough to support them from home a sufficient time to do the basines, that if f.50 a year was added to each of their falaries, the husurfs could be done. Another Committee reported a place to give the Supreme Judicial Cour Jurisdiction in the first inflance. in all actions over four popular, and to a-bolifa the Courts of Pleas and the Courts of General Seffions of the peace; and five bill were brought in accordingly, which were trad once and configuration oblivion; nobody appearing to be pleafed with them. As that plan is now thrown but as a tob to be played with, I will endeavour in my neart to this form objections to it, which I think can never be got over.
