

THIS LIFE.—A NEW SONG.

There is a life,
Where we can never die,
On which we can do nothing;
The more we desire,
To wealth do aspire,
By so much we're less in distress.

The Lawyer when paid,
Will strike his long head,
And plead till his voice is quite hoarse,
But if no money you pay,
No word will he say,
Though your fortune depends on the cause.

The doctor with powder,
Endeavours to mend us,
From this journals state here below;
And what makes it worse,
He'll receive his pay first,
Are us such good hel' below.

The Preceptor much vex'd,
Comes in to view us,
He puzzles his head the whole day,
His scholars he thumps,
Declaring them gamps,
And in scolding old vices drives away.

The Farmer, who's life,
Is free from all strife,
Is happy at the tail of his plough;
Gives money to the poor,
And his bread by the sweat of his brow.

Thus we all have our vices,
From whence there arises,
Contingual trials in each station;
But it is hap'd that ere long,
We shal unite in one song.

My happiness attend the nation.

BOSTON, March 16.
English and French Mercantile.

The public mind having been much agitated by the treatment which Capt. BLACKMER lately received from a British man of war, on his voyage from Jamaica—we have received from him the following occurrences of the voyage, & I and pledge the reputation of our paper, for their accuracy.

Capt. BLACKMER, in the schooner Hoppe, sailed from Jamaica, on the 1st Feb. in company with two other American vessels, and at 8 o'clock, P.M. fell in with three French privateers—one of which fired a number of shot at them, brought him to, and ordered him to come on board the privateer. Capt. B. immediately went on board the privateer, the Capt. of which examined his papers, and told him to go on board his vessel. When Capt. B. was going on board his vessel, the privateer's captain, hailed the mate of the Hoppe, and said, "Do you not feel bad down your soul, and class your weightless ship like fire at you?"—The mate having only a box with him, could not immediately comply, on which the Capt. of the privateer again said, "you are a bitch, and don't know how to get off, like a star board." The mate immediately put the helm up, and ran fast, and took from him all his water, except one cask, leaving him for water, & clattered him of a trumpet, and articles of clothing, to the amount of near gold dollars; and when he right to give up his vessel. In consequence of this treatment, Capt. B. was obliged to put his men on short allowance of water, and put away to the Grand Concourse for more. But this was only the beginning of his miseries.

On the 5th inst., in late evening, at 7, on Newfound land, the weather being awful, ran a log, a vessel went in sight, which proved to be a frigate under French colors, which fired at him. On this Capt. B. immediately put his helm up, and laid his main-top and flying jib, both down, and fell into the frigates wake. She tacked ship, and Capt. B. wore round, put down his helm, and said to the frigates crew to speak. The frigates came up on his stern, at the distance of yards, and then with all his bark, fire to minnows, and then when his vessel fired a salvo, the frigates crew entered Capt. Blackmer's face, took the left jaw bone, and came out near him, wounding him very severely. Capt. B. got the man on the quarter-deck, with the master in his boat, but had no companion than he had an inclination to fire. After this a Lieutenant haled the schommer, and a quarrel some cargo was on board, and from whence the came to which Capt. B. gave full value replies, and said, that they had wounded him severely, and required some assistance; but received none. After a short pause, they said they were French, and the Capt. B. might just trust them on their voyage. Capt. B. then requested them for God's sake to lend him some assistance. As after again inquiring where he came from, the frigates had a few words with the Capt. and Lieutenants, and came to the conclusion on which Capt. B. must trust, the quarter-deck, and said, "I am bound to trust you, but I am sorry for you, and shall never forget you." The Capt. and the Lt. soon had another frigate which was then in company. When the Capt. was going off, he was again required to send his surgeon on board the the schooner; but retented no longer. The Lieutenant, however, soon after ordered the surgeon on board; who immediately appeared, and ex-pressed his utmost detestation of the proceeding, dressed the wounds, effected to carry all right, left a quantity of medicine, and in all his conduct displayed the gentleman, and most benevolence. The Lieutenant too, conducted himself like a gentleman, and regarded the injury which he had received, greatly relieved him with some sympathy, and giving any compensation for the same. Even a surgeon of Capt. B. to find out the names of the frigates, or commanders, was in vain—they refused to give them alledging that it was not customary. One of the frigates was a 56, or 60, the other 32.—The Captain of the largest was about 5 feet 6 inches tall, well faced, & looking young, appeared to be about 40 years of age, a little puffed with the small porc, black hair, and dressed in the uniform of the British navy. The Lieutenant about 5 feet 7 inches, about 25 years old, light hair, was very gentle and polite, and dressed in uniform. The former was 6 feet 2 inches, about 25 years old, very party and general, dressed in a light blue uniform. By this description it is to be hoped the name of the frigate will be ascertained, that proper representations may be made on the subject.

The contending parties embraced, and the idea of a divorce was forgotten.

A young priest, of greater pertness than wit or learning, being alkated in company how he came to take it into his head to enter into the ministry of the church? Because, said he, the Lord had need of me. That may be replied a gentleman prefer, for I often have read that the Lord can have need of an ASS.

A late Journal to INDIA and CHINA.

AT BOMBAY,

IN the region of the torrid zone, the heat of a meridian sun, renders it very disagreeable, and indeed almost impossible for strangers to pursue either business or amusement without doors: for this reason I generally deferred my excursions till toward the close of the day.

This afternoon Mr. — and myself, took a walk toward the English burying ground, which is somewhat a mile or two, without the city gates on the sea shore. In our journey we saw the Gentoos, burning one of their dead. We were too late to see their first ceremonies, and left them before they began their last; I observed, however, that they first confined the head, and then the extremities. While we were looking on this awful novelty, we were accosted by a little boy, of a modest and sorrowful countenance, who asked "Can that Merican burn, he brother?" The intercession seemed accompanied with an expression of regret and shame, for the barbarous custom of his country, and before we could answer, he turned with a frown, toward the friend of his infancy, whom we learned was his mother! The tears of undignified Nature stole over his cheeks, while he gathered the ashes of the consuming beth: the calcined bones were equally the subjects of his mournful care. A small hole, dug in the sand, received the sacred emblem, over which he sprinkled sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers of tall palm trees, whose branches bodies and solitary stations added to the gloom of the evening, and the reflection of the fix & six pence were had taken, over which he fired sweet marjoram and pieces of sandal wood.

It being near sun-set, we continued our march, and in a few minutes arrived at the Repository of Christians. This is an oblong square of about 100 yards by 50, enclosed by a decent brick wall, or roofed high. The gate or porch, built in the eastern side, was attended by two aged Hindoo, who bowed as we passed. In this inclosure are many tombs of white and colored marble aqueduct, and cisterns of water. Numbers