

Miss Bigelow & Cushing,
perhaps the following lines will be acceptable to your reader.
All the things beneath the sun,
I once envied him; but now,
If not, 'tis ten times worse.

Poor Adam by his wife, 'tis known Was sick'd some years ago;
But Adam was portract'd alone,
For all his friends were so.

Lovers the strongest fools are made,
When they their symphs pursue,
Which they will n'er believe till wed,
But then, also, 'tis true.

They beg, they borrow, and they adore,
Total weary'd out of life;
And perh. what's this trouble for?
Why truly for a wife.

How odd a thing a whining for,
Who grieve in great need,
For that, which finds as ever got,
Digs make him ligh'd indeed.

Each child's an Angel while she's w'd,
But when the woman's done,
The wife, instead of flesh and blood, Practices nothing but a bore.

No more or less, it human life,
No man's can thus;
But when a man has got a wife,
He has them all in one.

The liver of Prometheus,
A winged Valentine fed,
A table, that the thing was there,
The poor old man was w'd.

A wife all men of learning know,
Was Tantalus's curse;
The apple which did tempt him fo,
Were sought but a divorce.

Let me feel dream that to his fate,
A better wife will fall;
They're all the same, faith to a hair,
For they are women all.

Many give a glass of wine does give,
(With such a glass that gain fays)
Thus, in the cloughs, spring from Eve, Ever gave in all their day.

But come to lovers here's a glas,
God wot, we need no curse;
Each with us may wed his last,
No foul can wish his worse.

ANECDOTES.

A BOOKSELLER in the North, remarkable for his wit, sold a book to a gentleman, which, on examination, was found to want in the style, and a few leaves at the end. "This book is imperfect," said the purchaser, "it has no title-page or end-papers." "Then," answered the bookseller, "it's a plug-ugly bullock's tail."

A BAPTIST preacher, in the District of Maine, who was eternally vociferating against learning, one day took his text in the law of Moses, where it says that the test or tokens shall be covered, and began to preach as follows.—"My beloved, what great advantages we have in our day compared with those under the law, we, whether poor or rich, have lived secured to us; but those who labored under the law, should they be poor and obliged to beg, why then flap goes their tail to cover the token with."

The Pumpkin & Pudding.

A certain Pudding, newly transported into this country, passed by where a Farmer was gathering Pumpkins, by my hook, and what do you call them, says Pudding—Wives eggs, says the Farmer.
And by St. Patrick, won't you tell me one of them? for I will get in a way of getting my own horses, for my poor master, frightened the hemp for nothing but for taking one without liberty. "Yes, you are a quare of a dollar you may take one. So Pudding takes it, and on he goes —and in defeating a half by his chance, let the pumpkin fall, and it took a direction down the hill, and a dozen of bushes, and Mr. Pudding in full flight after it. The Pumpkin struck water, and fall open—a rabbit which lay under the bush to sleep, started, almost frightened to death, and Pudding after it, yelling—stop that could stop that could stop that."

AS just imported from England, a quantity of Dr. Snel's Painter's Colour, Drugs and Medicines, &c.

He has also received from Britain a large assortment of European and India GOODS, Incl. Steel, Nails, Gilt, Red, Brandy, Malt, Meats, Sherry, Port, Madeira, Wine, Water, Lard and Brown Sugar, Tea, Coffee, Chocolate, Pepper, Spice, Ginger, Chamomile, Cloves, Mace, &c. &c.

WORCESTER, June 22, 1796.

Simeon Butler,
Has just received, in addition to his advertisements, the 15th ult., a large supply of BOOKS,

which makes his assortment complete and extensive.—Public & Private Libraries may be supplied with Books, on the fine terms as they are, at Boston or New-York.

Extract from the second Part of Price's Age of Reason.

TO be happy in an old age, it is necessary that we accustom ourselves to objects which can accompany the mind all the way through life; and that we take, as far as in our power, to do this.

THE man of pleasure, incapable in old age, and more prone to infamy than little better; whereas, naturally, mathematical and mechanical sciences, are a confirmed source of tranquil pleasure, and of repose, the study of those things is the study of the true theology; it teaches man to know and to submit the Creator for the principles of science that are the creation, are utterly incapable and of divine origin.

Those who knew Benjamin Franklin will recall, that his mind was ever young; his temper ever serene; science, that never grows grey was always his mistress. Without an object, he became like an invalid in an hospital, waiting for death.

Wanted, as an apprentice to the PRINTING business, a BOY, 12 years old Engaged for the FRAINTER.

PROPOSALS.

For Publishing by Subscription,
In a large Octavo Volume,
A COMPLETE

History of Connecticut,
From the time of the emigration of its first planters from England, in 1630, to 1712.

By BENJAMIN TRUMBULL, A.M.

CONDITIONS.

THE History will contain between five and six hundred pages, be printed on a good type and paper, be neatly bound and lettered.
The price to subscribers will be Two Dollars, and to non-subscribers two and a Quarter.

THOSE who subscribe for twelve, will receive one gratis; and the usual allowance shall be made to Staplers, Merchants and Booksellers.

The writer has had frequent access to the public records and papers of the colony, and the history will be supported, by the records of Connecticut and New-Haven, of the United Colonies and particular towns, as well as by authentic history,
travel and manuscripts.

The collection of materials and the compilation of the history has been a work of great labour and considerable expense. Such a work has long been an object of general desire and expectation.
The writer therefore offers himself, that his friends and the friends of science in general, will give the subscription immediate encouragement.

The history will be put to the press as soon as the collection of materials is completed, and a general rate of compensation will be agreed upon.

N. B. All those who are indebted to them at this time in Northampton, are desired to call and settle the sum, between this and the first of August next; those who ought to comply with this requirement will be held indiscriminately, as all accounts at due time, will be closed by the subscriber.

WRIGHT & STODDARD.
Northampton, June 15, 1796.

NEW GOODS.

Wright and Stoddard,

ESPECIALLY inform their customers, that they have just received at their store in Worcester, a pleasing variety of Spring and Summer.

GOODS,

consisting of Bindledochs, Callimors, Vell Patches,

Serge, Shalloons, Lading, Satinets, Flourettes,

Muffles, Linens, Malib & Lawn Handkerchiefs,

Spring Mats, Linens, Neckers, Striped and Cloqued, de Jean, Foulards, India Cotton, Black

Moles, Ribbon, Silk Handkerchiefs, Men's

Cotton Silk, and a valuable variety of China

Porcelain, &c.

They expect a supply of Crockery, &c. by 8 and by 10 O'clock, Nails, Hammers, and Hand Wires, &c.

The writer has had frequent access to the public
records and papers of the colony, and the history
will be supported, by the records of Connecticut and New-Haven, of the United Colonies and
particular towns, as well as by authentic history,
travel and manuscripts.

The collection of materials and the compilation of the history has been a work of great labour
and considerable expense. Such a work has long been an object of general desire and expectation.
The writer therefore offers himself, that his
friends and the friends of science in general, will give the subscription immediate encouragement.

The history will be put to the press as soon
as the collection of materials is completed, and a general rate of compensation will be agreed upon.

N. B. All those who are indebted to them at this time in Northampton, are desired to call and
settle the sum, between this and the first of August next; those who ought to comply with this
requirement will be held indiscriminately, as all accounts at due time, will be closed by the subscriber.

WRIGHT & STODDARD.

Northampton, June 15, 1796.

Stop Runaway!

25 Cents Reward!

ON the evening of the 6th inst. John Blackburn, an apprentice to the subscriber of Amherst, house carpenter; made his escape from his master, and carried off sundry articles, to a considerable amount. He is about 18 years of age—about 5 feet 6 inches high—has a plethora of freckles, and a very pale countenance.
He wears a small black cap, and a white coat.

He is about 5 feet 6 inches high—has a plethora of freckles, and a very pale countenance.
He wears a small black cap, and a
white coat.

All Persons are forbid harboring said Runaway.

DAVID POMROY.

JULY, 1796.

The co-partnership of Ne-fert May and Co., being this day, by mutual agreement dissolved, they respect all profits in-debt to them, to make payment.

NEHEMIAH MAY.

JOHN TILLINGHAST.
Groton, June 16, 1796.

Broke into the inclosure of the subscriber, on the 15th instant, half fire steel, with half-penny needles, half ear and crop in the fame; three d. with half-penny needles, under side of the same; three d. with crop and fist in the right ear; half a dozen needles, and a quarter of a penny in the left ear. The owner is desired to make application to the sheriff, or to the police officer, for the apprehension of the aforesaid thief.

To those who are determined to find in the Country, and wish to make purchases, a liberal credit will be given on easy and advantageous terms. To those who are debtors of the subscriber, nothing but honest payment will be given; and good wages, & abundant opportunities for promotion, and advancement, will be offered.

A hand driving-student, according most recommendations and advantages, and qualifying himself for a particular calling with this Order; and a hand carpenter or painter will be engaged, charged with the care of the goods, and the charge of the house.

General uses this opportunity to thank the Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their
valour in the field of battle.

General uses this opportunity to thank the
Officers and Soldiers of the French, for their
devotion to their country, and for their valour in the