This cottage was constructed in the early 1880's for Stephen Fuller, a Florence insurance agent. However, Mr. Smith lived on Maple St. The house was occupied during the late 19th century by Henry Fuller, a civil engineer.

The house features a central wall gable on the three-bay facade with decorative barge boards and round-headed , two over two sash windows within. The central entrance has a small porch with chamfered posts, brackets and a balustrade.
