9. Historical significance (include explanation of themes checked above)

Maplewood Terrace was laid out along the eastern slope of Baker's Hill as a residential street in the late 1860's. As elevation provides a commanding vista southerly to the Mount Tom and Holyoke Ranges which flank the Connecticut River.

This is a two and a half story house, with the gable end to the street and a cross gable on the southern side. A simple, hipped roof porch with square posts extends across the facade and a small diamond-shaped window adorns the front gable. The southern side has a one-story, bay window projecting from the cross gable and a colored-glass window on the second floor.
