ARCHITECTURAL SIGNIFICANCE (describe important architectural features and evaluate in terms of other buildings within community)

The plain surfaces, window treatment, asymmetrical massing and gabled projections with one long side are taken from English architecture of the turn-of-the-century period, known generally as Arts and Crafts, which in turn was a revival or earlier vernacular practices.

HISTORICAL SIGNIFICANCE (explain the role owners played in local or state history and how the building relates to the development of the community)

This house was built during the 1920's in the fashionable Round Hill neighborhood. This glacial drumlin had played an important part in Northampton's 19th century history and only became sub-divided for residential development in the 20th century. The first known occupant of this house was Wilson Mooy, a professor of Music at Smith College.
