9. Historical significance (include explanation of themes checked above)

This two-story house stands out from its nineteenth century neighbors on Bridge St. by its smooth stucco finish. The house is capped with a slate hipped roof and has projecting rafters under the raking eaves. Apparently this was built as a two-family house with the division being b floor. A small, step-gabled portico with simple square posts covers the entrance at the eastern end of the facade, while the western entrance has a larger, enclosed porch with a stepped-gable and a plaque inscribed "1923".
