9. Historical significance (include explanation of themes checked above)

This house was built in the late 1890's for Warren M. King. Mr. King was the cashier of the Northampton National Bank, and later became president of this bank, as well as becoming president and treasurer if the Norwood Engineering Co. in Florence. The house is possibly from designs of R.F. Putnam, a well-known, local architect of the turn-of-the-century who specialized in Colonial designs, and was responsible for severa other houses on Harrison Ave. The street was opened in 1890 and quickly bacame one if the most fashionable streets in the city.

The house is two stories tall with slate, hipped roof and pedimented dormers. A projecting cornice with dentil frieze caps the block and fluted corner pilasters are also present. The facade has a two-story bow window and a onestory porch, that extends from the bow across the facade and around the eastern side to a two-story bay window. The porch has a projecting cornice with dentil frieze, Tuscan columns and balustrade. The main entrance has sidelights and is capped by an elliptical fanlight.
