9. Historical significance (include explanation of themes checked above)

During the 1890's Charles Stevens bought the Whitney estate on King St. In 1898 he filed a subdivision plan for Edwards Square. This short, L-shaped street was named after Jonathan Edwards, the famous Northampton theologian of the mid 18th century, who maintained a homestead on King St. on this site.

Edwards Square has about ten houses, of which this is the most interesting architecturally. Two and one-half stories high, with gable end to the street, the house has cross gables on each side and a two story corner tower capped by a pyramidal roof and finial. The tower roof has a triangular dormer and bracketed cornice. Perforated bargeboards trim the front gable, and a one-story porch extends across the front. The porch is composed of posts, patterned frieze, ornate cut-out brackets and a balustrade.

During the early 20th century Louis Young, a Main St. barber, is listed as living here.
