This house forms a complementary pair with the house next east (no. 17). Both houses feature corner towers with flaring pyramidal roofs, slate hipped roofs with front and side gabled projections, decoratively-cut shingles and two-story front porches with Tuscan columns.

This house has the entire second floor and upper gables clad in fish-scale shingles, and the front porch has an elaborate cut-out balustrade.

Both of these houses were constructed between 1891 and 1895 on the front part of the old Abell homestead. Mr Manning was employed as a printer by the Gazette Printing Co.
