Historical significance (include explanation of themes checked above) This house forms a complementary pair with the house next west (no. 19) Both houses feature corner towers with flaring pyramidal roofs, slate hipped roofs with front and side gabled projections, decoratively-cut shingles, and two-story front porches with Tuscan columns. This house has a front gable with diamond-pattern shingles and a small porch recessed behind the large semi-circular opening. The second floor porch has been enclosed, but still retains its spindle frieze while the first floor porch has a simple balustrade. Both of these houses were constructed between 1891 and 1895 on the fron part of the old Abell homestead. Mr. Toohey was employed by the Northampton Gas Light Co.	Subsequent uses (if any) and dates 8.
