9. Historical significance (include explanation of themes checked above)

This large two and a half story shingled house occupies a prominent site one-third of the way up Round Hill's eastern slope. It faces on a small triangular park formed by Park (now Trumbull Rd.) and Prospect Sts. Originally part of J.R. Trumbull's estate, this lot was probably split off shortly after his death in the late 1890's.

A slate roof with gable to the side caps the block, while a two and a half story, projecting central pavilion breaks up the three-bay facade. The pavilion has a hipped gable atop a three-sided bay, which in turn rests on a rectangular entry porch. The porch is composed of square posts connected by arched brackets which form "Gothic" openings.
