The remaining half of the Williams House on Market Street, siad to be one of the oldest dwellings in Northampton.

"It is thought by some local historians that the house may be one of the oldest in Northampton. An ancient deed to the property, possessed by the Poleto family, is signed by John Pynchon, founder of Northampton. The deed conveys title from Thomas Strong and Wife of Northampton to Richard Long of Hartford. Later the lot and original house became the property of the Michael Williams family and is still referred to as "The Williams House"."

Joseph Poleto, Mrs. Tomeo's father, bought the house and lot in 1912. A Mr. Risley who was involved in the purchase tore down his part of the house and built a small business on the northerly half of the lot.

The exterior of the half-house is very plain; the interiors retain many original features.
